I have had lots of strong individuals influence me but I never met a person that has more potential. This person has the ability to influence me from right and wrong. This person I admire is Sarge Keith. Not only to me he has influences other teenage individuals. He is dedicated, supportive, respectful, brave and other words that describes him. He's been a good role model. As for andrea his job is difficult to support many individuals. Whenever you might be wondering who might be your perfect person, take in mind my qualities. I nominate Sarge because he's supportive, responsible, and a good role model.

One thing I admire of Sarge is his responsibility. He has impact a good program, which this program has influenced many teenagers that are going the wrong way. With this program he turns them upside down from wrong to right. He has been there whenever a young teenage person needs him. Not that these aren't his kids, he still has the responsibility to be in teenage life. Just one phone call, his there answering them. That proves how responsible he is. I would want to grow up to have the same responsibilities he has that influences everyday individuals to change. Another thing is regardless where he's at he will make sure he doesn't miss or take away time from a child. His main point in life is to help us in responsibility, for

as individuals take in mind what we have have to plan next. Just by him dedicating his times shows how responsible he is.
I admire Sarge not only for being responsible but who he is.

Second thing I admire of Sarge is how supportive he is. He doesn't judge you by your past or where you coming from, all he wants to do is help you. By him changing you, you will realize that thanks to him your life by now would be worthless. Not only that he is nothing from you, his been there like a friend, teacher, strong adult and much more to me. He is always there to me giving me advice non-stop and I appreciate the fact that he cares.
He always there supporting teenagers in school, or whenever you trying to reach a goal. He gives advices like life, education, and outside of world. He is what you can call supportive.

Last thing I admire is he is a hell of a good role model. Adults these days don't have the courage to help out a young individual. What good example he done is look what an awesome program he has. I am proud of how much he cares.
There's people that claim to be your friend, but he is what you can actually call a friend. What other good role model can you have, he has all the qualities.
He's been a good role model not only for me but to other individuals.

A good role model has to be supportive, understanding, and points you to the right direction. Jarge is the definition of a good role model. This is my good role model. I decided no one can replace him or any other strong individual, because he is more than the president to me. Keep up the good job, you did Jarge.

I nominate Jarge because he is supportive, responsible, and a good role model. I believe he deserves to be on the wall of fame. So here are some reasons for this nomination. I appreciate how much he has influenced my life. I wouldn't change Jarge for anything. Beyond all the people I met, Jarge has given me inspiration.
